

Book Trailer Creation: Production Info and Online Resources

You do not have to spend a lot of money to make a decent book trailer. There are many excellent resources available to D.Y.I. creators for little to no cost. Please be sure to check copyright information prior to using any image or audio clip.

Photo Sizes

NOTE: Get the best resolution you can afford. If using free images, look for these sizes (there is a smaller size available, but it will not look good on all monitors). Rule of thumb is that the more pixels there are, the higher the resolution. Photos are usually .jpg or .png formats.

**If you are buying stock images, size will make a difference in price.

Tip: Look for horizontal images. You can use vertical images, but they will have black fill in where image doesn't fit.

Average - 640 x 360

HD (High Definition) 720 - 1230 x 720

HD (High Definition) - 1920 x 1080 (full HD resolution)

Video Sizes

NOTE: Video formats are always horizontal

4:3 is standard

16:9 is H

Video Production

List below in each category is in alphabetical order, not in order of my personal preference. Be sure to read about each program to see if it offers everything you may want to incorporate into your book trailer - some online programs allow music, but no narration, or not both. Others may not allow text in certain areas.

iMovie and Movie Maker are free downloads that I recommend you play around with (both will provide everything you need for creating a decent trailer). Be sure that your computer has the capacity / space for the software download and editing process. Older computers will need older versions of the software (in that case, you may be better off with an online editor). **How to and FAQs are available on the individual websites.

Software for Mac and PC

Software downloaded onto your computer. **Also check for apps to create on ipad, iPhone (Mac) and tablet, smartphone (Windows)

iMovie - Mac

<http://www.apple.com/imovie> - free download (already comes on many Mac computers)

Windows Movie Maker - Microsoft product for PC

<http://www.windows-movie-maker.org>

(you can also go directly to Microsoft website and search for it to download from there)

Camtasia - try for free, buy for Mac or PC

Online Editors

Note: If you are creating from a 'free' account from one of the sites listed below, your video will have a watermark. To get a clean copy, you must have a paid subscription.

Tip: Take advantage of the free memberships or trials to see how you like the editor (if you like it, you'll want to pay for removal of watermark). **Be sure to quit before the free trial end date.

Animoto - TRT 20 minutes max / 30 seconds for the free video <http://www.animoto.com>

Magisto - TRT varies. Free, but several types of subscriptions available at reasonable cost.
<https://www.magisto.com>

Stupeflix - TRT 20 minutes max
